Notable Speech of Senator Clark Upon the Fruition of His Fondest Hopes-Excursion to Salt Lake Promised Los Angeles Citizens.

Salt Lake and Los Angeles to- tend night hailed Senator W. A. Clark as the matchmaker who had united these two great cities, using a wedding ring of steel bands. This simile was invented by former Governor Heber M. Wells of Utah, and when he used it at the reception given tonight by the Los Angeles chamber of commerce in its Angeles chamber of commerce in its splendid building to the Commercial club of Salt Lake, he aroused warm ap-

Another feature of the evening was the oration of Senator Reed Smoot, who provided a special Utah hell for "knockers." The anostle-senator was "Knockers." The apostle-senator was not on the regular programme, but the chairman called on him for a few remarks. He begun by saying that he had scanned the programme for the evening, but he had noticed nothing for "that good for nothing fellow from Utah, Reed Smoot." He then referred to the pilgrimage of the "hierarchy" from Salt Lake to proclaim to the coast citizens the existence of that ecclesiastical body in Utah. He declared that no state in the Union was more loyal to the stars and stripes than Utah, and then said:

"You have some knockers in Los Angeles and we have them in Utah. We have a mountain of brimstone in Utah, and you can ship them up there

An Accomplished Fact. which, you have assured me, was a delightful one. About three years ago I was entertained by a committee of this chamber of commerce. I had then acquired control of the Los Angeles Terminal railroad, with a view of extending it to Utah. I outlined to you my plans and determination to build a line to last Lake, and I have always felt grateful to you, gentlemen, for the substantial help to you, gentlemen, for the substantial help been tentatively fixed for May 18.

Promises Made Good.

"All these promises I have made good, as this bringing together of the two peoples to exchange cordialities confirms. "I cannot express to you the supreme delight which this occasion and this accomplishment affords me. All my best have been more than realized. The prospects for an immense business are exceedingly bright, and the principal officers, the general manager and heads of departments are all beaming with enthusiasm. Never for one moment, the commencement of the enterprise nave I had any apprehension on that point. I want, however, to assure you that the dollars and cents feature was not altogether the governing motive.
